

Local Number Portability (LNP) makes it possible to keep your phone number when you switch phone companies. Currently, landline phone companies are required to port numbers, but wireless carriers are not. It would be extremely beneficial to require wireless companies to comply. I would be able to keep my home phone number when switching phone companies.